Shiawassee National Wildlife Refuge

Goose Hunt Information and Regulation Sheet

General Information

Shiawassee National Wildlife Refuge (NWR) offers goose hunting each year. This hunt is available October 11th- November 13th concurrently with the beginning of the general waterfowl season for Saginaw County Goose Management Unit in the Southern Goose Zone as designated by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR). Maps and information about the goose management unit can be found in the annual Michigan Waterfowl Hunting Guide or on the Michigan DNR web site: www.michigan.gov/dnr. Refuge goose hunting takes place on Tuesdays, Thursdays, Saturdays, and Sundays. The refuge provides 14 blinds for morning hunts only. A lottery drawing is held for blind selection each morning of hunting. The blind selection process begins at 5:30 a.m. at the refuge headquarters, located at 6975 Mower Road, south of Saginaw, Michigan. Doors open at 5:00 a.m. for registration prior to the drawing. All hunters participating in the refuge goose hunting program must follow all state waterfowl regulations as well as refuge specific regulations.

Pre-registered Drawing

Hunters for the first two days of the refuge goose hunt are selected through a random pre-registered drawing administered by the Michigan DNR. The application process can be found on the Michigan DNR web site www.michigan.gov/dnr under game species – waterfowl. Hunters who get a reserved hunt are notified by mail or can check the web site to see if they were selected. A list of successful applicants is provided to the refuge by the Michigan DNR. On the morning of the pre-registered hunts, successful applicants must be at the refuge headquarters in person by 5:30 a.m. to complete the blind selection process. Hunters failing to meet this deadline forfeit their reserved position. They still have the option to wait until all drawing procedures have been completed to see if any blinds are left. If that is the case they may select a blind after all other hunters both pre-registered and standby have made blind selections. In addition to being present in person at the time of the blind selection process, successful applicants must show the refuge staff a photo ID, hunting license and appropriate waterfowl stamps to register for the blind selection process.

Stand-by Drawing

Hunters wishing to hunt geese during the first two days of the season but were not selected for the pre-registered drawing still have a possibility to participate by filling blinds of pre-registered hunters not at the headquarters in time to participate in their blind selection. The drawing for left over blinds will take place amongst all stand-by parties immediately after the initial pre-registered draw.

Open Lottery Drawing

After the first two days of goose hunting at Shiawassee NWR, pre-registered and stand-by draw procedures are no longer in effect for the remainder of the season. Hunters wishing to take part in this program will be selected and choose their blind location under an open lottery drawing process. The drawing process requires all hunters to be present by 5:30 a.m. to register for drawing and follows the same procedures and regulations for all three types of refuge draws. These procedures and regulations are listed below under refuge specific goose hunting regulations.

Please review refuge goose hunting regulations and hunt zone conditions on back.

Hunt Zone Conditions

- 4 river hunting zones will be available on the Shiawassee River for the 2014 goose hunting season. Hunters will need a boat to access these blinds.
- 10 dry land hunting zones will be available for hunting. Fields consist of barley, soy, and mowed grass.

All Michigan State Hunting Rules Apply. The Following Are Refuge Specific Goose Hunting Regulations:

1. Hunters arriving late to the refuge are still permitted to fill empty blinds after the lottery blind selection process has been completed up until legal shooting time or after if the blind available is in a separate field and will not disturb other hunters.
2. All persons wishing to partner with other hunters must do so prior to the draw. Hunters will be permitted in the field or blind sites only as registered on the drawing application forms.
3. There is an access fee of $4 charged to each person going into the field whether they hunt or not. The access fee is charged each day the person participates in the refuge goose hunt. There is no annual access fee for the refuge. Persons qualifying for the Federal Interagency Senior or Access Pass (formerly Golden Age and Golden Access) will receive a 50% discount on the daily fee.
4. No more than 4 hunters/people can occupy any one blind. Single hunters are permitted.
5. Hunters must stay within their posted zone.
6. Legal shooting time starts one-half hour before sunrise and ends at 12:00 noon. Afternoon hunts are not available.
7. All hunters, whether they harvest a goose or not, are required to return hunter survey card to Goose Hunter Drop-off Box at refuge headquarters by 1:00 p.m. to provide hunter harvest information.
8. Hunters are restricted to a ten (10) shell limit.
9. Dogs are permitted on the refuge during the goose hunt but must be under control of the owner at all times.
